

Profile

I am a Frontend Developer with experience in building responsive, user-friendly web applications. With a solid foundation in HTML, CSS, JavaScript, Typescript, React, Vue, Next.js, and Nuxt.js, I enjoy transforming ideas and designs into seamless, interactive user experiences.

Beyond coding, I thrive on learning and pushing boundaries—whether it's refining user interfaces, optimizing performance, or experimenting with the latest web technologies. My approach to development is driven by creativity, attention to detail, and a commitment to delivering solutions that scale.

Work Experience

Toks Net

Front-end developer

- I worked as a frontend developer where I built and maintained several web applications for the company. I was responsible for developing user interfaces from scratch, integrating with backend APIs, and ensuring smooth user experiences. I collaborated closely with the UI/UX team and backend developers to bring ideas to life. One of the public projects I worked on is zetabrenteducation.com, where I handled all the frontend development.
